5. Methodology from 13.03.2020

During the online teaching period that has been established due to the coronavirus outbreak, students will be involved in the subject through the use of a classroom server that has been created on Discord. Here, they will attend their classes remotely together with their teacher and at the time that was scheduled since the beginning of this course. These sessions are meant to be used as a space to share, develop and improve ideas related to the final project based on the project based approach. The server will also be used to submit the project proposal among other information, which will be evaluated by peer and teacher assessment.

6. Student dedication to the course

Classroom activities	Hours	Outside the classroom	Hours
Lectures	4	Autonomous work.	32
Practice sessions	2	Online classes (Discord)	10
Total in the classroom	8	Total outside the classroom	42

7. Grading criteria

Evaluation	Percentage	Comments
Participation in class dynamics	25	Attendance is compulsory.
On time submissions: Project proposal, rubric and project journal.	50
Contribution to the final project	25

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The submissions will be done via Discord or Moodle according to the teacher's prior announcement. Students will have to submit a project proposal, a rubric made to evaluate their own project and perform self-evaluation and peer-evaluation on others, and a project journal or log that will show the evolution of their work. The use of clear and concise academic writing will be especially valued as well as the on-time submission of each assignment.
